Mountain Lions Workshop
with Lynn Cullens
Would you believe that Folsom has wild mountain lions? One was recently spotted near the Hinkle Creek Nature areal! Lynn Cullens, Executive Director of the Mountain Lion Foundation, will discuss mountain lion biology and behavior, the life cycle of a mountain lion, how best to stay safe when hiking or biking, tips for pets and livestock owners, and helpful information about how a neighborhood can work together to live safely in mountain lion country.

AGES 18+
311867-01 Tu 11/12 6:30-7:30P
LOCATION: Robert H. Miller III Rotary Clubhouse
FEE: Free; but you must preregister to reserve your seat.

From Big Gulch to Hinkle Creek
with Kevin Knauss
"Why is it called Hinkle Creek and who was Hinkle?" Author Kevin Knauss will present on how the California Gold Rush transformed Hinkle Creek from a Native American living and hunting area to a gold mining region. It was first known among the '49ers as Big Gulch and was the site for Placer Mining operations. Learn about Isaac Hinkle and how he played a role in the development of the area that was later was named after him.

AGES 18+
111869-01 Tu 1/14 6:30-8:00P
LOCATION: Robert H. Miller III Rotary Clubhouse
FEE: Free; but you must preregister to reserve your seat.